Executive Committee of President Machado's Party Wrestles With Problems Presented

COURSE OF U.S. IS CENSURED

Havana, Aug. 10.—The executive committee of President Machado's Liberal Party voted late today a motion condemning United States Ambassador Welles' procedure in trying to mediate Cuba's political difficulties as prejudicial to Cuba's sovereignty.

Associated Press
Havana, Aug. 10.—The question whether President Machado shall resign his post to bring peace to Cuba, now under a formally declared state of war as the result of the menace of revolution, was placed today before the national executive committee of General Machado's Liberal Party.

The executive committee met and considered the formula of peace presented by United States Ambassador Welles, acting as mediator in the conflict between the Machado supporters and the opposition.

This formula entails the withdrawal of Machado to make way for a president approved by all parties. GAPS GROW GREATER Differences within the parties over the mediation programme widened as the liberal conference got under way, and it appeared possible the old party lines would be completely obliterated.

Meanwhile, the general strikes, which brought the conflict over Machado to a head, continued unabated despite the efforts and expectations of the government.

MEALS FOR HUNGRY
The government this afternoon announced over the official radio station it was opening four places at which meals would be served to the hungry.

Soldiers delivered ice to hotels and hospitals, and other details distributed gasoline from trucks to persons provided with permits by army headquarters.

"Pirate" radio stations broke into the government's broadcast repeatedly. Dots and dashes, spelling out the word "assassin" — meaning assassin — were heard over and over again.

U.S. MARINES READY
Washington, Aug. 10.—Although President Roosevelt has indicated every effort would be taken to avoid intervention in the badly stirred Cuban situation, informed quarters here today disclosed that should it be necessary the marines now stationed at Guantanamo, Virginia, probably would be the first to land.

Five men, including a Boston lawyer, are listed for trial.

Vegreville, Alta., Aug. 10.—A little boy in a white sailor suit held up a great bouquet to Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here today. His name is Wilfrid Laurier Horton, and his presentation was made almost on the spot at which Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke in 1910.

Mr. King commented on the little fellow's name, and thanked him for the offering.

INJURIES CAUSE WOMAN'S DEATH

Seattle, Aug. 10.—Mrs. Dora Fitzgerald, thirty-eight, died here today, Dr. P. C. West, autopsy surgeon said, from a black eye and facial bruise, which resulted in a hemorrhage. The bruises were suffered in a fall several days ago. Her husband, Patrick Fitzgerald, forty-three, and three friends arrested when the woman was found dead early today, were released.

NEBRASKANS DRINK 3.2

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—Nebraskans drank their 3.2 beer today with a quiet welcome of the legal return. Beer became legal at 12.05 a.m., but long before then railroad cars throughout the state and trucks were ready to speed the brew to wholesalers, retailers and nearby towns and rural licensees.

Citizens of Vegreville Turn Out to Welcome Dominion Leader at Civic Reception

By Ray Brown
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Vegreville, Alta., Aug. 10.—The second day which Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King spent in Alberta opened here with a civic reception, at which Mayor J. B. Holden expressed the pleasure of Vegreville citizens at entertaining the Dominion Liberal leader.

Entering Alberta yesterday on his swing through the three prairie provinces, Mr. King spoke first at Wainwright and then briefly at Vermilion, where a civic welcome was accorded him in the evening. Following that ceremony, he was driven to Vegreville to spend the night. He was accompanied by Hon. Charles Stewart, M.P. for Edmonton West, former Minister of the Interior; W. S. Campbell, honorary president of the Alberta Liberal Association, and Boyd McBride, secretary of the association.

LUCHKOVICH ATTENDS
Among others seated on the platform with Mr. King at the civic reception was Mr. Luchkovich, U.F.A. member for Vegreville in the House of Commons.

Mr. King thanked him for coming. "Neither Mr. Luchkovich nor I are very anxious for a title," the Liberal leader said in a passing reference to this subject. "I am sure he is no more anxious to be Sir Michael than I am to be Sir William. As you know, there has recently been a movement to re-establish titles in Canada." He felt, said Mr. King, that this was an unwise proposal, and that Canadians would prefer to continue without a reintroduction of titles.

As the meeting was non-political, the Liberal leader did not touch on topics of a partisan nature.

TOLENTATION AS PRINCIPLE
He referred at some length to his long association with the Canadian Legion and the attitude that great statesmen and the attitude that great statesmen

Hon. W. Downie Stewart
Keeps Number of Ready-filled Briars Handy When Being Interviewed; Is the Owner of Most Widely-traveled Wheel Chair in Existence.

A whole battery of briar pipes loaded with tobacco lay in a neat row on a nearby table when newspapermen were interviewing Hon. W. Downie Stewart, former Minister of Finance in the New Zealand cabinet, in the public lounge of the Aorangi today.

When questioned about it, Mr. Stewart explained that it was a habit of his to have plenty of smoking materials at hand when dealing with newspapermen.

He puffed hard at one pipe, had two others all ready for the match at his elbow, and said he might be able to locate a full dozen pipes in his smoking paraphernalia.

They are filled for him by a secretary, but he does all the smoking himself.

Despite his physical disabilities, Mr. Stewart, who suffered arthritis as the result of war service, is a cheerful person, and he creates a friendly atmosphere, and his remarks are punctuated by clever wit.

The wheel chair in which he is piloted around is probably the most traveled chair of its kind in existence. The rubber-tired chair has a travel-stained appearance, and is plastered with labels. Mr. Stewart said he brought along with him a second wheel chair equipped with tires more suitable for street propulsion. When he travels by there before crossing chairs are folded up and taken along.

The chair he was in today has been around the world and has crossed the Pacific ocean several times.

FRENCH TROOPS GUARD BORDER

Mulhouse, France, Aug. 10.—Armed French troops were again stationed today on the German frontier near here as a precaution against the alleged aggressions of German Nazis such as occurred early this year at Huningue.

Small detachments from the Mulhouse garrison were sent to Huningue, Kappel and Châtenay, where only isolated customs posts were previously maintained.

At Huningue they are watching the bridge where some of Chancellor Hitler's brown shirts staged an anti-French demonstration late in February, shouting taunts.

BIG BRIDGE NOT PAYING

E. Crowe, Here on Aorangi, Was Business Manager of Sydney Harbor Bridge

Cost $50,000,000 and Tolls Collected Do Not Even Pay Interest, He Says

"The tolls collected are not even enough to pay the interest on the structure," stated E. Crowe, business manager of Dorman, Long & Company, builders of the great bridge across the harbor at Sydney, Australia, when he reached here this morning from Australia by the Ms. Aorangi, en route to England with Mrs. Crowe and their two daughters. He had been in Sydney eight and one-half years in connection with the great bridge.

The total cost of the bridge has been somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000,000, Mr. Crowe said. The government of New South Wales owns the structure, and is feeling it a waste on the public pig imported from England, a great boon to Sydney residents. It cuts off approximately five miles, Mr. Crowe said.

Tolls are collected on all vehicular traffic, but pedestrians may cross the span free of charge. Traffic, however, Mr. Crowe said, must be enormous to even pay the interest on the huge sum of money spent to erect the bridge.

100 FEET WIDE
The bridge has six approach spans, Mr. Crowe stated in giving some particulars about the giant structure. With the approaches, the bridge is about 3,770 feet in length. The arch span is 1,360 feet in length. The bridge carries four railroad lines, a fifty-seven-foot roadway and two ten-foot pedestrian paths, making a total width of 160 feet. Approximately 32,000 tons of steel were put into the structure, 40,000 tons being imported from England and the rest obtained in Australia. The top of the span is 437 feet above the water, and the main drive across the bridge is 180 feet above.

"The state of the shipbuilding industry in Great Britain, and poor conditions in the railroad business have caused our company to feel the depression greatly," Mr. Crowe said. "Contracts for bridge building have been fairly good. A big bridge is being erected in Denmark and several smaller ones in England."

Mr. Crowe went to Australia, from England, via Suez and the Red Sea, and is making his first visit to Canada. He will travel across the Dominion over Canadian National lines, stopping for a short time at Jasper National Park before going on to Quebec to sail August 19 by the Ms. Empress of Britain for Southampton.

CLAIMS MADE FOR $515,998

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Six writers with total claims of $515,998.78 have been filed in the Court of King's Bench here against E. A. Crawford, spectacular grain operator who is alleged to have failed recently in New York.

Asking payment of $357,399.58, the Norris Grain Company of Winnipeg is the largest creditor. At one time, it says, Crawford owed the company more than $1,000,000, but sale of his holdings reduced the amount.

The North Star Grain Company is asking $20,816.20 and four other plaintiffs, residing in New York, are claiming a total of $147,782.99. Crawford owned the company, which was incorporated in New York.

Statement of claims filed in the suit allege the plaintiffs were all employed by Crawford to buy and sell grain, each of them believing they were his exclusive broker.

The Australian delegation to the Banff conference also arrived today, and consisted of Dr. Georgina Sweet, associate professor of zoology at the University of Melbourne, and Alfred Stirling, of Melbourne.

JUDGE DENTON, TORONTO, DIES

Toronto, Aug. 10.—Judge James Herbert Denton, senior county judge of the County of York, died in his sleep at a summer hotel in Metis, Que., yesterday evening. Mrs. Denton telephoned the news to her family here early today.

A president of the Toronto Liberal Association thirty years ago, Judge Denton was elevated to the bench in 1911, the appointment being one of the last acts of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's administration.

"The thing that impressed me most on my five months' tour of the world was the way Japan is forging ahead in her business with other countries, and the way she is leaving us all far behind," stated R. S. Dalgleish, prominent British shipowner of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who reached Victoria this morning from Australia by the Ms. Aorangi.

Mr. Dalgleish proceeded with the ship to Vancouver and will spend several days there before crossing the coast to Montreal and New York to sail for England.

"Japan has knocked Great Britain and the United States flat," Mr. Dalgleish declared, and the sooner we wake up to that fact the better for us all. Our costs are too high and we cannot get rid of all tariffs, subsidies, restrictions and quotas too quickly.

Mr. Dalgleish, accompanied by his son, S. S. W. Dalgleish, and E. G. Bates, left England in March and went to India, via the Suez Canal. The party traveled on the Ms. Viceroy of India, remaining in India two weeks and then joining the Ms. Naldora for the remainder of the voyage to Singapore, Hongkong, Shanghai and Japan.

After three weeks in Japan they went through Korea and Manchuria to Peking and then to Shanghai, where they took steamer for Australia.

Mr. Dalgleish said he found shipping in all parts of the world in a poor state. He is owner of the great fleet of freighters whose names end in "worth," many of which have called at Victoria for lumber and grain. One of them, the Pennyworth, is now approaching Churchill, the first ship of the season to enter Hudson Bay. Victoria Is Favored As Winter Place

No Chance of Catching Pneumonic Cold on Return to East, Says Editor of Sherbrooke Record; Save Money Also By Coming Here.

Victoria is favored over Bermuda, Florida or California by the editor of the Sherbrooke Record as a winter resort. He has written an editorial in his paper telling some of the reasons why he has reached that opinion. His editorial is as follows:

"Why do we prefer Victoria, B.C., to Bermuda? or to Florida or California, as a winter resort? First, because it has a finer climate, and is so healthy that one may return to colder climates in March or April without catching a pneumonic cold. Second, because we in the east manufacture all the goods sold in Victoria, and it is then a solemn matter of reciprocity and loyalty to one's own. Third, if your stay is for a month the five-day railway journey is repaid in savings on the multiple overcharges, exchange rates and tips extorted from any and every man far away. There are other reasons, not the least of which are the grandeur of the scenery, and close intimacy between west and east."

Hon. W. Downie Stewart of New Zealand Going to Banff As Inquirer

Dr. Georgina Sweet Will Represent Australia at Institute Conference

"I am here on this occasion as an interested inquirer and shall be quite content to sit back and absorb what is going on," said Hon. W. Downie Stewart, former Minister of Finance in the New Zealand Government and outstanding member of the New Zealand delegation to the Institute of Pacific Relations Conference at Banff, in explaining today that the heavy work of the delegation rested upon other shoulders.

The leader of the New Zealand group, he explained, was Walter Nash, Labor member for Wellington, who is already at Banff.

Mr. Stewart reached here this morning by the Ms. Aorangi to attend the Banff conference and also the British Commonwealth Relations Conference to be held shortly in Toronto. He is accompanied by his sister, Miss M. Downie Stewart; G. W. Armitage, his nephew; H. F. von Haast and Miss M. Seaton.

The Australian delegation to the Banff conference also arrived today, and consisted of Dr. Georgina Sweet, associate professor of zoology at the University of Melbourne, and Alfred Stirling, of Melbourne.

DAILY SESSION IS ADJOURNED

Canadian Press
Dublin, Aug. 10.—The Irish Free State Parliament yesterday evening adjourned until September 27 when discussion of the new constitution will begin. The speaker, Mr. E. J. Sheehy, presiding, after introducing three bills which, according to commentators, would virtually sever connection between the Irish Free State and the Crown, continued his address to the assembly. He stressed the importance of the new constitution and the need for the people to understand its provisions. The session was adjourned after a lengthy debate on the proposed changes.

committee was informed by E. W. Arnott, transportation assistant. A letter of protest from the school board said the proposed fare would be a "disaster" to many who would be unable to finance transportation from homes to schools. It stated, further, that in many instances teachers now were supplying tickets for needy cases and that the board would have to supply tickets annually, which was a burden at this time.

Mr. Arnott told the committee the concession meant a contribution of $25,000 by the company. At the time the concession was made the company was making a slight return on its investment, he said. The first six months of this year, however, passenger traffic had dropped 2,000,000, and would be double that by the end of the year if things did not improve. The revenue was insufficient to pay operating expenses, he stated. The passenger decrease from the peak year of 1929, when the last agreement with the city was negotiated, to the end of 1933 would be 13,000,000, and the gross revenue decrease would be $600,000, said Mr. Arnott.

The transportation expert also said that in Montreal and Toronto the charge for school tickets was 25 cents for seven; Winnipeg, 25 cents for eight; and Ottawa 50 cents for fourteen.

Defence Counsel Raises Objections in Vancouver, But Magistrate, Who Is Police Board Member, Hears Case

(Canadian Press)
Vancouver, Aug. 10.—The matter of a police commission, already called into question in Ontario by Mr. Justice A. C. Kingstone, was brought into court here when Gordon Grant, defence counsel for George Drayton, contended Magistrate W. M. McKay was not qualified to hear the case. Drayton is charged with obstructing justice during a demonstration and Magistrate McKay is a member of the Vancouver police commission.

Defence counsel advanced the contention when Assistant City Prosecutor Gordon Scott announced the crown intended to proceed by indictment. At the hearing yesterday Mr. Grant pressed for summary trial and claimed disqualification of the magistrate on the ground the case was one that affected the "credibility of the chief and deputy chief of police."

Mr. Justice Kingstone, reporting to the Attorney-General of Ontario, recently after investigating Albert Band's charge that he had been "framed" in connection with his conviction for the attempted robbery of a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, said in part:

"In order to put our courts in a position where no such allegations (that the trial of Drayton was a 'frame-up') could be suggested or urged, it might be well to consider the advisability of prohibiting police magistrates from sitting on boards of police commissioners."

Promise Is Seen In Pacific Conference

GROUPS HERE FOR PARLEY

Sir W. Harrison Moore, the famous authority on constitutional and international law, who was expected to arrive by the Acragi and lead the Australian delegation, was not on the passenger list. It was stated by members of the delegation that he might probably travel via San Francisco to participate in the conference.

Dr. R. N. Chapman, dean of the graduate school of tropical agriculture and director of the pineapple experimental station, University of Hawaii, said Dr. P. C. Chang, professor of philosophy, Hankai University, China, were delegates arriving from Honolulu.

Mr. Stewart pointed out to newspapermen that while the discussions at Banff would be of an academic character in which economic would prevail, political differences would creep into the debate, although such a development would receive no official cognizance, as the institute is a non-political group.

Eight deputy sheriffs were on guard at the plant before the disturbance. When a mob began to gather they called the sheriff's office and the Ontario branch of the state police.

Reports indicated milk was being dumped on many roads in that area.

CITY OF RYON IS GIVEN AFFRONT

By Thomas T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 10.—Visitors to the quaint old cathedral city of Ripon in Yorkshire have perpetrated an affront. Ever since the days of the Saxons the city has been the scene of a curfew for the official hornblower, ceremoniously to announce the hours by blowing his horn at the market cross. This little ritual usually attracts a small gathering.

Some soldiers were present the other night from a territorial camp, and it is asserted, the hornblower was hustled, the horn snatched from him and an attempt to blow it made by some of the strangers.

Jealous for the "sacredness of ancient custom in the eyes of the citizens," the mayor of Ripon, R. Thorpe, takes a serious view of the occurrence.

LOW WAGES PAID

NRA Inquiry Reveals Lumber
Men in South Get 9 to 12
Cents Hour

School Teachers Average
$650 a Year; Shirt Workers
As Low As $2 Week

By HODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Aug. 10.—Much astonishment has developed around NRA headquarters at revelations of the extremely low wages on which hundreds of thousands of workers exist.

Wages, which are paid on a piece-work basis, are so low that many workers are unable to support their families. For instance, those people in the Pennsylvania shirt factory who were found by the Department of Labor to be earning $2 a week.

That was a horrible example, though it could be duplicated in other states. Nevertheless thirty-five per cent of women in shirt factories earn less than $6 a week.

President William Green of the A. F. of L. pointed out at the lumber code hearing that sawmills in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and the Carolinas were paying 1922 wages of 9 to 12 cents an hour.

LUMBER MILL WAGES

Green said lumber mill wages in the south had averaged from $3.76 in one state to $4.85 in the highest paying state, which meant many workers earned less than $3 a week.

He also has figures showing Alabama cotton mill hands paid $1.44 a day, Georgia road workers 10 to 30 cents an hour and Chicago packing house workers as low as $3 a week. Common labor has been discovered working for five cents an hour.

School teachers, seeking a code, say their average annual wage dropped from $1,420 in 1920 to $650.

"When you get to the song and poetry stage," remarked Frank R. Wilson, chief of organization for the NRA non-wide campaign, "you know your drive is a success."

He pointed to various uncollected contributions. There isn't an official song yet—but the first one submitted came from Fred Cromwell of New York and the chorus goes like this: "Get together for Recovery, Get together for Recovery, Ob—now is the time to plan Cooperate all we can."

And dear Uncle Sam—we're all with you strong. Ob—millions can't be wrong. Get together for Recovery. Get together for Recovery. Hurrah for the New Deal. Hurrah for the New Deal.

For you and you and me. Get together for Recovery. Proud boast of Gov. Louis J. Brand, answering a questionnaire as to how many women were holding jobs in Maine: "I appointed two ladies yesterday to the commission on the board to regulate the practice of hair dressing and beauty culture and their names are Mrs. Edwidge Lacombe of Biddeford, for two years, and Miss Adelle C. Adams of Portland, for one year."

Hon. Fernon Baker, Minister of Education of Alberta, also attended the meeting and discussed educational problems common to the four provinces.

PACIFIC TRADE
TO BE DEBATED

Growth of Canada's Shipments to Be Discussed at Banff Conference

(Canadian Press)
Banff, Alta., Aug. 10.—Spectacular growth of Canada's trade with countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean and with British India is reviewed in an outline of Canada's trans-Pacific trade prepared by Prof. James M. MacDonald of Dalhousie University, Halifax, for the Institute of Pacific Relations, which will meet here next week.

The review deals with British India, Ceylon, Straits Settlements, other British East Indies, Hongkong, Australia, Fiji, New Zealand and other parts of Oceania in the British Empire group, and China, Dutch East Indies, Japan, Siam and the Philippine Islands.

In 1910 Canada imported from those countries goods to the value of $6,708,000. A peak of $55,207,000 was reached in 1930, but the figure in 1932 was $27,439,000.

CANADA'S EXPORTS

Exports from Canada across the Pacific have exceeded imports yearly since 1920. Exports climbed from $7,224,000 in 1910 to a peak of $124,008,000 in 1929, the favorable balance that year being $70,000,000. In 1932 the exports were $37,409,000, Prof. MacDonald says.

More than half the percentage of Pacific imports have been from British Empire possessions, the tables show. But in 1932 only 28 per cent of Canada's exports westward went to British Empire countries.

Pulp and paper, wheat and manufactured goods are the principal selling products across the Pacific in 1932. Prof. MacDonald shows. Largest import was tea, with sugar and milk coming next in order.

CITY HALL PLAN
IN VANCOUVER

Capitalists Offer to Build,

Twenty Years

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 10.—A proposal of Alderman L. D. McDonald that a city hall for Vancouver be built on the wholesale market site on Main Street opposite the Canadian National Railway station, made before a special committee of the council yesterday, has caused further delay in deciding whether to move from the temporary premises in the Holden Building on Hastings Street.

A special meeting of the whole council was called for Friday to consider the McDonald plan.

Alderman McDonald reported he had "contacted" capital which would build a city hall at an approximate cost of $750,000, with payments by the city of $45,000 for twenty years, at the end of which the city would own the building. He declared the income from the enterprises would probably equal the amount the city would pay for the building.

"Whether this will meet with approval or not, I congratulate the alderman for his effort," said Mayor Louis D. Taylor. "This is the first move for construction of a city hall by the city. I may add that I had in mind a proposal which I intended to submit, but not at this time."

Beside the McDonald plan was broached the committee considered the Bekins and Shelly building proposals for new temporary premises. Mayor Taylor stated he favored remaining in the Holden Building until the city was prepared to move into its own city hall.

In reply to Alderman McRae, who favored accepting the Shelly Building at approximately $12,000 less rent than the Holden Building, the mayor stated one of the greatest drawbacks was its situation with relation to traffic hazards.

Washington, Aug. 10.—What to do with the 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 acres of land in the United States which Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace plans to take out of the production of wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco and other crops was delegated today to a Michigan professor for decision.

Farm administrators selected J. F. Cox, former dean of the Michigan State College, East Lansing, Mich., to head a section of crop replacements, as part of the programme of a retreat in agricultural production.

Prof. Cox will seek to stimulate the planting of trees and pastures, projects of crops which will help rebuild soils to preserve the potential productive capacities of farm lands.

Hon. W. Price Gives

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 10.—The London Daily Express in a dispatch from Glasgow today represented Hon. William H. Price, Ontario Attorney-General, as saying Canada has room for 10,000,000 additional citizens and that the next generation should see a population of 25,000,000 in the Dominion.

The newspaper said Mr. Price told an audience in the Scottish industrial city of Glasgow that the government at present was getting no return from the expenditures for able-bodied men, but that if these men were transferred to Canada something tangible would result, land would be developed and at the end of three years families taken to the country. Mr. Price would have something to call their own.

Pension of $22,000
Is Awarded Widow

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 10.—Cancer contracted during overseas service which caused the death of Col. (Dr.) George Bourgeois of Three Rivers fourteen years ago was the basis of an award of $22,000 to the widow handed down yesterday by a pensions tribunal.

The case was the subject of long investigation and argument and more than fifty witnesses were heard.

From the point of view of veterans' claims it is important, as it is an instance of the application of the "benefit of doubt" clause of the pensions law.

Counsel for the widow produced evidence to show Col. Bourgeois had suffered from a throat affliction which he claimed was cancer until 1919. The tribunal, giving the benefit of the doubt to the applicant, awarded the pension.

The decision may be appealed.

Japanese Troops
Moving, Say Chinese

Peiping, China, Aug. 10.—Renewed Japanese-Chinese hostilities in Chahar and Jehol provinces, to the north, were reported in a Chinese military communique yesterday.

Japanese and Manchukuan forces were said to be advancing on Tolunohr, in Chahar, from Jehol, while Japanese airplanes were again bombing Tolunohr and other border towns.

Chinese authorities claimed the Japanese had again entered the demilitarized zone established south of the Great Wall and in north China proper by the Tangku truce, signed late in May, which ended months of fighting in Jehol and north China.

They further maintained the Japanese again had occupied Minju, just northeast of Peiping.

The hostilities were described as an outgrowth of the recent activities of the so-called "Christian General," Feng Yu-hsiang, who seized the border town of Tolunohr from Manchukuan guards a month ago. The Japanese, it was said, began the present invasion because they considered Jehol endangered.

Chinese officials here maintain they are not prepared to negotiate with the Japanese troops on the Jehol border to withdraw to the westward.

PEACE MOVES
IN U.S. INDUSTRY

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 10.—Harmony in industry through the settlement of labor disputes was sought earnestly today by the United States recovery administration.

From apparent success in settling a coal strike discord at Grindstone, Pa., President Roosevelt's national labor board turned to two more Pennsylvania arguments between employers and workers.

The arbitration officials called before them today employers and employees in the Reading, Pa., hosiery strike. Dr. Leo Wolman, acting chairman of the labor board, also intended to bring his organization into action on another front Friday, the Potomac, Pa., shirt mill controversy.

Conciliation machinery of the labor board, said Mr. Wolman, had been sought for a number of disputes, but for the time would be put into action in only a few.

To-day the recovery directors also dealt with the employer-employee angle—the hearing on the bituminous coal industry code—this being the second day of argument revolving around the use of the open shop policy, with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, presenting labor's side of the debate.

CUBA IN TURMOIL

For approximately two years and a half the people of Cuba have been under partial military rule. They have been denied the right of free speech, free assembly, habeas corpus, and a free press. Political assassinations have been frequent, and there have been sporadic uprisings against these conditions, which President Machado has put down by the use of military force. Matters have grown from bad to worse and a situation now has arisen which caused President Roosevelt to drop more than a gentle hint to the Cuban dictator that the best thing he can do, and do quickly, is to retire from the scene.

It had been thought a week or so ago that the mediation of Mr. Sumner Welles, the new United States ambassador to Cuba, had persuaded President Machado to put a stop to political violence and terrorism, which threatened violent revolution, by the restoration of constitutional guarantees and by the signature of an amnesty bill to free political prisoners. But matters appear to have gone so far that nothing will satisfy the populace but the resignation of Machado. He objects, and he has brought upon his own head the protests of both British and Spanish ministers at Havana, who have complained about the treatment of their nationals and the damage to foreign property as a result of the striking and rioting which have been going on in Cuba.

Machado has been in office since 1923. A constitutional convention was convened in March, 1928, and it approved various changes in the constitution, including a proposal to increase the President's term to six years without right of re-election. Machado was inaugurated for his second term on May 20, 1929, and it expires on that date in 1935. Present indications are, however, that he will recognize the writing on the wall and ask for the "leave of absence" which has been suggested.

It is interesting to note that Cuba, except for a brief period of British occupancy in 1762-63, remained a Spanish possession from the date of its discovery by Columbus until nearly the end of 1898, when the new republic was relinquished under the terms of the Treaty of Paris, which ended the armed intervention of the United States in the struggle of the Cubans against Spanish rule. After this, of course, Cuba became an independent state.

An arrangement was reached with the United States, incidentally, which forbade Cuba to engage herself in any undertaking with a foreign power which would jeopardize her independence. There were also financial considerations which, in modern parlance, demanded that Cuba live within her means, while the United States obtained certain rights in regard to naval stations. A reciprocal commercial treaty which was negotiated in December, 1903, further strengthened the ties between Cuba and the United States. There followed, however, a good deal of political disturbance and an American commission formed a provisional government in the summer of 1906. This was continued for more than three years, when national governmental institutions became established on a fairly sound basis.

United States early association with Cuba, therefore, naturally is responsible for such intervention in the latter's internal affairs as is reflected in President Roosevelt's hint to President Machado. The Cuban president is like other government heads in various countries, who want to remain in power, irrespective of their ability to give good government, but mainly for the sake of the emolument which attaches to political office.

JAPAN AND VLADIVOSTOK

Japan's aerial sham-battle over Tokio, her naval manoeuvres, plus the unprecedented appropriation recently made for her military services indicate, of course, that she is preparing for war. The nature of her preparation suggests that she expects, if she does not intend to come to grips with a first-class power, and the only country which is in a position to menace her from the air is Russia. Vladivostok, the chief port of the Russian maritime province on the Pacific, is less than five hundred miles from northern Japan, and the development of aerial navigation exposes the numerous large communities in the island empire to the possibility of air raids if there should be conflict with the Soviets.

If Japan is wise she will think a long time before she picks a conflict with Russia, no matter how attractive the possession of the Russian coastal territory may appear to her for strategic purposes. Russia to-day is a different proposition from the Russia of 1904-05. She has a large, efficient and well-equipped army, every man of which has received special training not only in a military sense but in a general way. More than that, she would be fighting for what she would regard as an ideal with an intelligent appreciation of the circumstances which involved her in war. Beyond all this, she would have more resources in men, material and credit than Japan, and while she probably would lose the initial battles she would be able to maintain a conflict much longer than Japan, and she would not stop until every inch of soil taken from her had been recaptured.

Japan is unquestionably operating on a far-reaching plan of territorial aggrandizement, regardless of her international engagements, which she justifies on the ground of national interest. Having acquired, first Korea, and next, Manchuria, she feels that she can not permanently retain her recent conquests without securing herself strategically against Russian interference. She is taking advantage of the preoccupation of the rest of the world in its economic problems to further her programme, in the expectation that she can succeed in making herself mistress of the East.

This is an ambitious programme, dictated by a military junta which, like all military juntas, has no appreciation of the consequences of failure. A war between Japan and Russia would result eventually in a revolution in Japan and the establishment of the very form of government which her present Japanese rulers fear and abhor. This, sooner or later, is the inevitable outcome of all military imperialism. If Japan wanted to sovietize all China as well as herself she could not proceed more inexorably in that direction than by embroiling herself in a war with Russia. Incidentally, it is obvious enough now that if such a conflict arose, it would not be precipitated by Russia, which is out for non-aggression pacts with all the world and which vainly offered one to Tokio last year.

"THE ALIMONY RACKET"

It appears that an alimony law which works both ways has gone into effect in Illinois, and two men already have profited by it.

In the one case, one, Judge Sabath, of the Superior Court of Cook County, granted the jobless husband a divorce on the ground of desertion and ordered the divorced wife, who is employed as a stenographer, to pay her former husband $1,000 in instalments of $10 a week. In the other case the divorce was awarded to the husband, and his former wife was ordered to pay him for a definite period $350 alimony weekly, with a quart of milk and six eggs a day from the farm the couple own in joint tenancy. But she must also provide him with living quarters on the farm—in the cowshed.

"The alimony racket has gone on the rocks in Illinois," comments The Springfield Republican. "May no deserving woman suffer."

SCHOOL CHILDREN AND WAR

It is not surprising that the school children who were examined in a survey by two professors of Columbia University should have revealed a tendency to glorify everything connected with war. Martial things—roll of drums, blare of trumpets, men in uniform, and all the fanfare and trumphy of war—have a well-nigh irresistible appeal to young minds, and to many old ones.

School children in the very nature of things can have little appreciation of the horrors and cruelty of war; they see only its glories. Their text book heroes are great soldiers, and they learn that the destinies of their country have revolved about war.

Nor is there any wonder that children have little grasp of the machinery of peace. Even adults might be found woefully lacking in knowledge of the Kellogg pact, the World Court, the League of Nations, and the intricacies surrounding these agencies.

But while the professors' survey reveals little that is surprising, it calls attention to the need for bringing forcibly home to future citizens the fact that war is a national catastrophe and that as such it is to be avoided, and that good has not come from any war. The greatest lesson in the history of the world is that war is inevitable, unquestioning acceptance of which is perhaps the chief reason that peace measures have been so ineffectual.

World armaments are far larger now than they were in 1914, and the world now, as then, is filled with international jealousies and suspicions, and rumors of war. Progress toward universal peace has been disappointingly slow and has had many setbacks. Peace machinery is imperfect and not very effective. It takes time to change the outlook of man.

These facts, however, only make it more desirable to put forth every effort to avoid a new war, which would be infinitely more terrible than the last, and which many world leaders believe would bring the destruction of civilization.

It is not necessary to breed a nation of milkop pacifists. An understanding of what war really is, how wars are made, and what is being done to minimize the chances for war, can be combined with a healthy patriotism.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A SHOCKING DISCOVERY

The Toronto Star

It transpires that a prisoner has been kept for twenty-three years in solitary confinement in a Canadian penitentiary. It sounds like a story of a Czarist Russia or the pre-revolutionary Russia. Many Canadians will be shocked to know that torture is still sanctioned in their prison system.

AIR-MINDED INDIA

The Times of India

The new service outlined in the Government of India's recent explanatory communique promises to furnish India with a bold start towards the development of one of the best organized and most convenient air services in the world. It is calculated to give this country a network of internal air services and to provide speedy communication with other civilized nations east and west. This will be achieved mainly by the use of Indian capital; it will be worked as far as possible, and more and more as time goes on by Indian personnel.

A WORLD-WIDE JAMBOREE

The New York Times

The word "jamboree," which has a rather boisterous sound, is conditionally admitted to the English dictionary as "American slang." But it now has a new and international definition by the Boy Scouts under the leadership of the Chief Scout, Sir Robert Baden-Powell. A "jamboree" is still exuberant in spirit, but with a purpose and under a discipline that prevent its being in any sense a "spree." As reported recently, 30,000 boys from many parts of the world were "camped" just outside Budapest, but, as their official organ announces, "remote from all the international jealousies, political squabbles, industrial troubles and financial anxieties which are disturbing the world at large."

Almost as many nationalities are represented in the persons of these youth as were officially present by delegates at the recent Economic Conference in London. The "jamboree" "draft programme" is devoted almost wholly to exchange of experiences ("swapping") seems to be the Boy Scout term for it), and, incidentally, to the promotion of world friendship, which "has become essential on the part of the new generation." One can believe that this organization, which includes in its membership in the United States alone more than a million registered Scouts, is one of the most potent agencies for world understanding, good-will and peace. President Roosevelt, who has for years been associated with the Scout Federation in New York, and is now the honorary head of the national organization, recently declared that the Boy Scout movement represents an era of moral force in America.

Loose Ends

Alice finds everybody very grumpy in Wonderland—and her personal questions are resented—the Red Knight is horrified—Sir Harry is annoyed—Sir Josh is logical—the Dormouse is broke—but the Mad Hatter's tea party still goes on.

By H. B. W.

BLUNDERLAND

WHEN THE MAD HATTER, who was known intimately among his friends as Politics for short, invited Alice across the Bay to Wonderland for tea, she eagerly accepted the invitation. She had heard that her old friend was particularly mad these days.

"When," said Alice, just by way of making conversation, "are you going to hold the election?"

She realized at once that she had made a bad break. Sir Simon, the Red Knight of Seanch, almost choked on his tea and Sir Harry of Esquimaux dropped his toast.

"That," said the Hatter, "is a most impudent question."

"Very personal," said the Red Knight. "It's ill-bred and I resent it. An election, indeed! What's the country coming to?"

"I'm afraid you're not a lady, asking such things," said Sir Harry, retrieving his toast and putting more jam on it.

"I suspect," said Sir Duff of Rupert, who sat at the bottom of the table and was only allowed very weak tea and a dry piece of crust, "I suspect that this is an election of British Columbia."

"An elector?" said the Red Knight. "What right has an elector here, I'd like to know? First thing you know the electors will think they own these buildings and the whole country."

"Off with her head," suggested Sir Harry.

"Better just let me keep up talking her to death—it's slower, but more painful," said the Dormouse of Kelowna, who was feeling rather low, because he hadn't been able to afford to eat much since he lost his meal tax.

STATESMANSHIP

STILL," said Alice boldly, "I'd like to know when you'll hold an election."

"Well," said the Mad Hatter, pulling out his watch and looking at it very wisely, "if you must know, we'll hold it on the first rainy Monday after 5 o'clock. Or we'll consult the Gonzales Observatory or the P.O.E. time table."

"Or count em, meeny, miny mo," suggested Sir Harry.

"Or toss a coin," said the Red Knight. "It's all a matter of who cares?"

"No one cares but Sir Duff," said the Red Knight. "He's the only one who can afford an election just to please Sir Duff, when no one else in this room wants it."

"It would be a gross extravagance in these hard times," said the Red Knight. "Here, have some jam instead," said the Hatter.

"And do you know what Sir Duff wants?" asked the Red Knight. "He wants to get elected, that's what! The Red Knight looked horror-stricken at the thought."

"Being shocking," murmured Capt. Some Hows, who had just come off his yacht and felt very nautical.

"To think," said Sir Harry, "that politics should degenerate to this! Wants to get elected, eh? Well, Esquimaux will hear of this, I can promise you. Shame, shame."

PERSONAL

BUT," said Alice, plucking up her courage again, "I hear you are not going to nominate candidates in most ridings. How can you win the election, then?"

"That's another personal question," said the Red Knight.

"Well, you see," said Sir Joshua of Hinch, who hadn't spoken before, "we have a lot of independents secretly in agreement with us."

"But that, of course is confidential," said the Dormouse. "If it got abroad the independents couldn't be elected."

"Don't you think," said Alice innocently, "that the public will suspect there is some arrangement between you and the independents if you don't nominate in all the ridings?"

"Oh, the public will never bother to count up to see how many we have nominated," said Sir Harry, helping himself comfortably to more jam.

"After what it has done at certain past elections," said Capt. Some Hows, who was feeling very nautical, "I doubt that the public has enough intelligence to count. Anyway, I'll bet you a million dollars cash that the government is re-elected."

"I'll take that bet," said Sir Duff from the bottom of the table.

"Well," said Capt. Some Hows, feeling less nautical, "make it a dollar and a half. I think betting for large sums is vulgar."

MONEY

BUT WHO is going to pay for the election? That's what I can't find out," said the Dormouse from Kelowna, who looked after the money.

"That's right," the Walrus agreed.

"The time has come," the Walrus said, "to talk of dimes and pennies. But all he got was Denaries."

"That poetry is not up to your old standards," said the Dormouse.

"No, there was inspiration for a poet in the old days," sighed the Walrus. "Kings and cabbages and things. Now there's not even cabbage."

"What you don't understand," said Sir Josh of Hinch very profoundly to Alice, "is that we are all independent in this election. The cabinet is independent of the government. I am independent of the minister of education. The Red Knight is independent of the premier. None of us is supporting the government. The government is supporting us, and very comfortably. None of us is really in the government, except in the flesh."

"And in the small matter of salary, I suppose," said Sir Duff.

"You're not gent," said Sir Harry.

BRITISH

DON'T INTERRUPT the thread of my logic," said Sir Josh. "The point is that the constitution of the country never contemplated Sir Duff being premier. I defy anyone to show where it contemplated him. I have read advice is to buy Coal now, but let it be every line in it and he's not mentioned anywhere.

KIRK'S

"Just so," said the Red Knight, taking another bun.

"Therefore," said Sir Josh, "the government, having sworn to uphold the constitution, our first duty is to defend the country from Sir Duff. In brief, to keep him out at all costs. That is the British system on which the sun never sets. That British principle we will defend if we have to stay here till next summer. That's British."

"Rule Britannia," said Sir Harry, helping himself to more jam.

Said the Walrus, who was always composing poetry:

"Whenever we get in a pinch,
 We always consult old Josh Hinch.
 He says 'Hold on for sea.'
 Oh, Josh makes this job just a cinch."

NICE MAN

THAT'S NOT much of a poem," said the Walrus, "but somebody might like it."

"Personally," said the Red Knight, "I prefer Harry Hastings' letters in The Colonist to your poetry, Mr. Walrus. Mr. Hastings always says such nice things about me. And I never suggest anything to Mr. Hastings either. He must be a very intelligent man. If only everybody were like Mr. Hastings, now!"

"Yes, if only Sir Duff and Bill Bower would stay at home where they belong," said Sir Harry. "Can't anything be done about it?"

"No," said Sir Duff, "nothing can be done."

"Well," said the Dormouse, "we seem to be doing that very well."

"Yes, masterly," said Sir Josh.

"Ah, for the good old days," sighed the Red Knight.

"Don't let's think of the election to-day," said Sir Harry. "Let's think of it some other time, a long time from now."

"A good idea," said the Red Knight. "Pass the jam, please. I want to tell you a new story I've got about the time I chaperoned a bull."

"Here, have some jam instead," said the Hatter.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Light or moderate winds, generally fair and mild.

The British Columbia swimming championships held at Coal Harbor on Saturday brought out an Australian who arrived here on the Aurangzeb ten days ago as winner of three of the events in the J. W. Clegg, who won the 220 and 440 yard events and was first in the relay 150 yards team race, in which he swam as a member of the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. team.

Victoria's intermediate lacrosse team didn't win the game at the Athletic Park on Saturday, but it wasn't through any lack of cheerful hard work that they lost it, but chiefly of ill-timed passing at critical moments, when New Westminster's wide-awake defence was ready to convert an opposing player's error to their own advantage.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

Columbia, Pa., Aug. 10.—William Farley tells how he caught a three-pound bass. He momentarily placed his rod on the bank of Korbau's Lake and the fish struck. Off went the fish, hook, line and rod.

Fully dressed, Farley outswam the fish with its rod and towed the bass back to shore.

The place is immaculate—white enamel, gleaming chromium, polished plate glass partitions behind which nurses attend their little charges. There are twelve incubators and they usually are all occupied; just now one of them is shared by two and a half-pound girl twins, who are coming along famously. Premature babies can't breathe ordinary air, so this air is washed, filtered, warmed and mixed with oxygen before it is pumped into the incubators.

Many Enjoy Hudson's Bay Annual Picnic

Large Crowd Attends Department Store's Outing; Miss P. Butts and Don Fish Win Aggregate Cups

Sports Programme in Afternoon and Dance at Night Provide Entertainment For All

Over 2,000 employees, their families and their friends went to Elk Lake yesterday afternoon to attend the annual picnic of the Beaver Club, Hudson's Bay Company employees' society. Leaving the Douglas Street department store shortly after the early closing hour, ten bus loads of expectant merry-makers set out for the lake, where lunch from ready-packed boxes was eaten.

A lengthy sports programme was provided for those athletically-minded, while many others sat in the shade of the giant fir-trees surrounding the borders of the lake, and took it easy. One of the most interesting events on the programme was an exhibition 100-yards race between Owen Bentley and Joe Addison, which the former won by a fraction of an inch. Another keenly contested event was the tug-of-war. Three teams were entered in this event, and the "pulls" were long and arduous.

In the absence of A. J. Watson, manager of the Hudson's Bay store and president of the club, who is absent on his vacation at the present time, J. S. Horne, assistant manager of the store and vice-president of the society, presented the prizes to the successful contestants. Miss P. Butts, with thirteen points, was awarded the Departmental Managers' Cup for the grand aggregate championship for women, while Miss Helen Beck, with eleven points, placed second. Don Fish again won the A. J. Watson Grand Aggregate Cup for men with sixteen points.

The Earthworms, a team from the grocery department, were the winners in the tug-of-war after a strenuous pull. After being even for several minutes, the "worms" began to gain the upper hand and, inch by inch, they pulled their opponents nearer and nearer the mark. After losing a bit of the precious ground, they dug their heels in harder and with a terrific "heave-ho" gained the championship.

A golf championship was presented to Harry Lannon by J. S. Horne, assistant manager, in the absence of the donor, MANY "EXTRAS". During the afternoon gallons of ice cold "pop" and ice cream, crates of watermelons and barrels of peanuts were consumed.

The latest jazz tunes were vocalized by an impromptu "glee" club during the afternoon and after one or two had started, many more followed and entertained the picnicers with melodies. Yesterday evening, after the picnic, everybody went to Hamsterley Lakeside where dancing was enjoyed until a late hour in the evening. A popular three-piece orchestra provided the music.

The complete results of the various events are as follows: Boys' race, three to six years—1, N. Wilkinson; 2, R. Galloway; 3, A. Cathers. Girls' race, three to six years—1, C. Webb; 2, M. Williams; 3, D. Keralak. Wheelbarrow race—1, D. Fish and P. Butts; 2, L. Baker and Hall; 3, Kelly and Warr. Boys' race, six to nine years—1, E. Turkington; 2, D. McLean; 3, R. Kruger. Girls' race, six to nine years—1, E. Wilkinson; 2, M. Shrimpton; 3, L. Noble. Boys' race, nine to twelve years—1, Miles; 2, Mays; 3, Haines. Girls' race, nine to twelve years—1, M. Dawhurst; 2, B. Hutchinson; 3, P. Wilkinson. Men's 100 yards—1, D. Williams; 2, J. Oakman; 3, D. Fish. Ladies' 100 yards—1, Beck; 2, Miles; 3, Warren. Men's swimming race—1, Elwood; 2, McMillan; 3, Wabham. Ladies' swimming race—1, French; 2, Beck; 3, Aspenwall. Exhibition 100 yards—1, O. Bentley; 2, Addison.

The committee in charge of the picnic and officers of the Beaver Club are: A. J. Watson, president; J. S. Horne, vice-president; T. Wilkinson, secretary; Miss T. McAdams, treasurer. Board: G. McAdams, D. Fish, T. Eaton, Misses Shadbolt and Allen. Transportation, Sam Campbell. Judges, J. S. Horne, A. S. Woodard, T. Walsh, E. Martin and G. Hibbard. Announcer, Geo. Hibbard. Starter, A. PLANS CHANGE IN LAND POLICY

Indiscriminate Settlement in B.C. to Be Curbed, Minister Announces

Election, Not Policy Statements Due Now, Says Liberal Leader

Land settlement policies under which the B.C. government has been operating for years should be changed now, according to a statement issued by Hon. Jochims Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, who has also taken on the portfolio of Minister of Lands since the retirement of Hon. N. S. Loughheed. The statement was criticized this morning by T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, who said that the government was making an announcement on the date of the election not on new policies would be more opportune.

The proposed new plan would enable the government to refuse to give persons the right to take up land in unsuitable areas, or in isolated parts. Mr. Hinchliffe pointed to scattered and diverse settlements as costing the province during recent years unnecessary expenses for additional schools, roads, bridges and other services. Outright sale by the government of farm lands was also questioned by the minister.

PLANS CHECK In his statement, Mr. Hinchliffe said: "The government agrees with me that until we have had opportunity to examine the lands policy and decide how it can be improved, we should do what we can to stop indiscriminate settlement on agricultural lands where there appears to be little chance of the success of such ventures. This, at least, will keep matters from becoming worse than they already are."

ROYAL COMMISSION ON AGRICULTURE All applications for pre-emption or purchase of lands pass through the hands of the Minister of Lands for approval. In future it is proposed to see that no application is granted unless in the discretion of the minister and his departmental aides such settlement is justified and likely to succeed. This will apply expressly to lands sought for agricultural purposes, and in all areas. The same power has been open to the province for years, but has not been over-exercised.

MR. PATTULLO ANSWERS Commenting on the statement this morning, Mr. Pattullo described it as mostly a jargon of words, designed for consumption by an electorate which the government has not the courage to face. "The scattered settlement in this province resulted from the policy pursued by the McBride-Bowser government during the period when there was a frenzied speculation in the natural resources of the province," said Mr. Pattullo. "Under the policy laid down by the McBride-Bowser government, a natural result followed; namely, a sparse population scattered over a very wide territory. "So far as the present Minister of Lands is concerned, it is presumption for either him or the government of which he is a member to attempt to formulate public policy, under the circumstances in which they now hold office. What the public is waiting for is an announcement of the date of election, in order that it may rid itself of an administration which has not only brought discredit upon government in this province, but has greatly lowered the prestige of the province in the eyes of the rest of Canada."

ROBERT CROMIE TO SPEAK HERE

Just back from Russia where he received many interesting impressions, Robert Cromie, publisher of The Vancouver Sun, will be heard in an address in Victoria next week. The occasion will be a quarterly luncheon membership meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, commencing at 12:15 o'clock Wednesday noon.

In Moscow and other Soviet centres, Mr. Cromie had an opportunity of observing the life around him and comparing and contrasting it to that in the western world. According to reports, Mr. Cromie was favorably impressed with much that he saw and particularly advocated good will and trade relations with the first workers republic. The Vancouver publisher was chairman of the largely attended meeting here when Dr. Will Durant spoke of Russia. Next Wednesday's luncheon will be open to members and their friends and reservations can be secured by phoning Empire 7191.

WIDER RANGE FOR STEELCOTE

E. S. Witt Named Sales Director For Western Canada

E. S. WITT

As evidence of the interest which manufacturers of other countries are taking in Canada, the Steelcote Manufacturing Company, with headquarters at Toronto, is now extending its activities in western Canada. This company has been established in eastern Canada for some years and as the result of a policy of expansion, E. S. Witt has been appointed director of sales for the west with headquarters in Winnipeg.

The parent company began operating in St. Louis, Mo., ten years ago, manufacturing a paint enamel product of special quality. To-day, it exports to some sixty-five countries throughout the world. The demands for the Canadian market, Great Britain and the British Dominions are supplied by a Canadian factory employing Canadian labor, and it is because of the success achieved in eastern Canada that the Canadian officials have decided to include all Canada in their intensive operations.

The story of Steelcote, primarily begun as an automobile enamel, is the story of a unique business romance. From a somewhat humble beginning, only a decade ago, the company and its products have steadily grown in public favor, until to-day "Steelcote" is asked for in a myriad of languages over the counters of the world.

Freshening Left-over Rolls

Left-over rolls can be made quite fresh again if you reheat them this way: Wrap the not-quite-fresh rolls in waxed paper and put the package into a plain brown paper bag. Place it in a lukewarm oven for about fifteen minutes. The rolls will come out looking and tasting just like fresh ones.

U.S. PUBLIC DEBT (PER CAPITA) BY FISCAL YEARS TO JULY 1

Adding to the Life of Your Belts and Sashes

The belts or sashes on your silk dresses will lose much of their charm and detract from the costume itself if you allow them to become limp and "straggly." You should take steps, when they are new, to preserve their crisp freshness. An excellent idea is to take a piece of grosgrain ribbon, a trifle narrower, but the same length as the belt and sew it on the wrong side. Use grosgrain ribbon the same shade as the belt itself. If you can get it—otherwise white will do.

Picture Framing Neatly and Reasonably Done

We carry a large range of molds and mats from which to choose. Those pictures will look so much better framed!

Route Through United States Abandoned When Heavy Surety Bond Demanded

SAD ENDING TO AMBITIOUS PLAN

Riders Return to Montreal For Finish; Three Victoria Riders Competing

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Insurmountable difficulties with the United States Customs have caused abandonment of the transcontinental bicycle race, which will be continued with a swing through Ontario, and will finish at Montreal next Tuesday.

Willie Spencer, promoter of six-day bicycle races, has taken over control of the race from Armand Vincent, Montreal sports promoter, who has dropped out of the project, Spencer announced to-day.

The riders would be taken by steamer to-day from the Sault to Sarnia, Ont., and to-morrow will cycle from Sarnia to Brantford. Saturday the distance between Brantford and Toronto will be covered; Sunday the field will travel to Kingston; Monday Kingston to Ottawa, and Tuesday Ottawa to Montreal where the race will end at the baseball stadium.

Thus will end the most ambitious cycling project of North America. The race, which attracted almost three score of the world's best professional cyclists, was to have visited the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, and the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

United States customs officials here demanded a surety bond of $3,000 or $1,500 cash before permitting the marathon and its equipment to cross the border.

Victoria sports fans have taken a keen interest in the transcontinental race owing to the entry of Victoria's four professional riders, Torchy Feden, Lew Rush, Polly Parrott and Stanley Jackson. Feden is at present leading the field in elapsed time. Rush was forced out of the race on Monday owing to stomach trouble.

Rifle Shooting

Scoring a fine 97 over the 200, 300 and 500-yard ranges, Master-Gunner H. G. "Lottie" Collins, well-known Garrison sharpshooter, led the field at the mid-week shoot of the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association, held at Heals Range yesterday afternoon.

Collins scored a possible at the 500-yard distance, planting seven shots in the bull. Second place went to Major Fred Richardson of the 8th (B.C.) Coast Brigade, C.A., who shot a 94. Two Scottish men, Lance-Corporal J. Moore and Captain W. E. Tapley, who both got 91s, tied for third place.

Scores follow: 200 300 500 7. Master-Gunner H. Collins... 31 23 31-97. G.M.S. W. E. Tapley... 28 23 31-82. Major F. Richardson... 31 31 36-94. Clyde Brown... 31 31 34-93. Scored 69s in the Cornwall match and participated in a shoot-off. The silver medal went to Regan with 34 and the bronze to Borland, who scored 33.

Smiling a charming smile of victory, Miss Betty Nuthall, member of the British Lawn Tennis team invading the United States, is pictured as she received the William H. Boston Red Sox trounced Philadelphia Athletics, 10 to 1.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia Athletics 10 to 1 yesterday to wind up the three-game series with a 2 to 1 advantage.

THE BIG SIX

With three hits in five times at bat, Jimmy Fox yesterday clubbed his way back into the batting leadership of the American League by the narrow margin of three-tenths of a point over Al Simmons, who was idle. Fox's slugging activities left him with an average of .3558, compared to .3555 for his former teammate, Chuck Klein, major league leader; Virgil Davis and Heinie Manush lost one point each. Davis's loss dropped the Phillies' catcher into third place in the National League half of the sextette and permitted Bill Terry, who did not play, to go into the runner-up position. The standings:

ROUND FIVE
Brouillard stabbed with his right and bobbed, then hammered a hard right to the body, but Jeby leaned in on him and they lay low each other. Jeby flashed a hard left hook to the head and Brouillard tore in with a right to the body and left hook to the head. The milling was still slow at the bell.

ROUND SIX
Brouillard banged a hard left to Jeby's jaw as they came out. Three times he sank his left deep in Jeby's body and the champion started to bend. Game and amazingly strong, Jeby pulled himself together on the ropes, but Brouillard had the range. Three hard lefts to the head brought Jeby's guard up and again Brouillard came a left in the pit of Jeby's stomach that turned the New Yorker pale. A left smash to the head started blood streaming from Jeby's nose but the champion brought a cheer from the crowd as he swung one desperate right to Brouillard's head. Practically Jeby caught it, held Brouillard off to bend, and the champion started to bend. Game and amazingly strong, Jeby pulled himself together on the ropes, but Brouillard had the range. ROUND SEVEN Jeby's second worked frantically over him to bring him up for the seventh. Cool and eager, unburnt, Brouillard carefully measured the champion with a left smash to the head. He chased Jeby into a corner and hammered both hands to the body. As they came away Brouillard shot three left swings to Jeby's jaw and the New York titleholder was in distress again. Gamsely Jeby tried to fight back, but he could search for the champion's head. He knocked him flat on his face with a left hook to the jaw. Jeby tried to get up at eight, but collapsed and was counted out after 2.21 minutes of the round.

Hedging Sales Cut Price Gain Down On Prairie Grain Pit

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—Early-season support was insufficient to meet scattered hedging pressure in the late dealings on the Winnipeg Grain Market to-day and at the close futures prices were 1/2 to 3/4 higher.

Selling pressure was not heavy, but support thinned appreciably in the late dealings and the market dropped most of its early advance. At the close October was quoted at 82, December 87 and May 93, cents.

The market was fairly steady and in the early dealings rose as much as 2 cents over yesterday's close. Selling orders, which had the appearance of hedging sales, however, pared the gains. Support was not sufficient to meet the selling.

Most of the bullish enthusiasm, prevalent in the early dealings, appeared to be based on the strong tone at Liverpool and optimistic anticipation of the Dominion Government crop report to be issued later to-day.

Late in the session no figure was placed on overnight export sales of Canadian wheat. Liverpool quotations near the close were 1/4 to 1/2 higher.

There was a better demand in evidence for higher grades of cash wheat and oats and malting barley showed strength. Coarse grains were steady.

CHICAGO CROP
Chicago, Aug. 10. (Associated Press)—For the third successive day, grain values showed an upward trend to-day, with wheat registering nearly 6 cents rise, compared with Tuesday's bottom figures.

Reactions set in and wheat closed easy at the same as yesterday's finish.

Wheat, futures, close: September, 1.00 1/4 to 1/2; December, 1.03 1/4 to 1/2; May, 1.07 1/4 to 1/2.

RAIL BONDS GET SUPPORT

New York, Aug. 10.—Rail bonds of secondary rating and semi-speculative issues of other groups continued to draw good trading support to-day. The previous day's gains were extended moderately in many cases. Prime loans were steady under fair demand. Carrier loans making good progress embraced substantially the same group which led the movement during the past two sessions. Rail bonds of high investment rating like Chesapeake and Ohio 4 1/2% and Santa Fe 4% found buyers at slightly higher levels.

In industrial and utility the tone was a little hesitant, although plus signs made the majority of changes. There was a fair demand for Armour and Company 4 1/2%, Shell Union Oil 5%, Youngtown Sheet and Tube 5%, Postal Telegraphs 5% and others, and of the foreign lists received a quiet demand, affecting some obligations of France, Brazil, Argentina, Japan and Poland which rose fractions to a point. U.S. Governments supplied comparatively little action and continued firm.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Career - Mad Wife Who Married Home-Loving Man - Any Girl Can Get Her Man, Thinks Dorothy Dix - Jealous Wife

DEAR MISS DIX—Several years ago I married a young woman who was a teacher. Of course, I naturally thought that she would make the kind of wife who was a homemaker, and who wanted children, but I find out that the only thing she cares for is her profession. She hates to keep house. She will not have children and she is away from home now, studying so that she can teach next year. I am amply able to support her in comfort and give her everything she wants, and I want a home and a family. What shall I do? A DISAPPOINTED HUSBAND.

Answer—The only thing you can do with a career-crazed woman is to let her go and try it.

Sometimes, when she finds out that the price she has to pay for a career is husband and home and babies, she realizes what a poor bargain she is making and turns back to the better world of home, and I am sure that a contented wife and mother.

Sometimes the career really does mean more to her than anything else in life, and in that case the husband is wise if he just lets her go, for there is no happiness or peace for a man with a part-time wife whose real interest is given to her outside work and not to her home.

The woman who loves her dear public better than she does her husband, who would rather get the glad hand from the audience than hold her baby's hand, and who is absorbed in schemes for regenerating the world instead of plans for making her own home happier, is not meant for domesticity, and it is hopeless to try to tie her to her own fireside.

It is one of the tragedies of being a woman that a woman cannot annex matrimony to a career as a man can, and add the joy and delight of family life to the joy and delight in doing her life work, as a man does.

Contrary to public opinion, not every woman is born with a passion for cooking and sewing and sweeping and mending and baby-tending and doing all of the tasks that go to the making of a home any more than every man is born with an inner urge to be a carpenter and build his own home with his own hands.

There are many women to whom Nature gave not the talents of domesticity, but talents for teaching or business or executive work or singing or acting, and so on. These women often spend years of time and thousands of dollars fitting themselves for the work they were destined to do, and that they have a passionate delight in doing. Then they fall in love and get married and the jig is up.

For they find that they cannot serve two masters. They cannot manage a career and a husband and children at the same time. They must sacrifice one or the other.

It is a hard and cruel choice, but an honest woman should make it before marriage and then abide by her decision. She hasn't a right to sacrifice an innocent man and helpless little children to her ambition, or to her love of her profession or business.

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think that if I will be patient and try hard enough I can get the man I love, who doesn't love me? What can I do to make him care for me?

Answer—A man who is a patient wooer, and who assiduously pursues a girl in spite of all discouragements, is very likely to win her in the end, but such tactics are not so successful when practiced by a woman. It flatters a woman for a man to run after her, but it is very likely to disgust a man for a girl to run after him.

Still, there are exceptions to the rule, particularly if the man in question happens to be either very timid and bashful or very conceited. The timid man always needs someone to help him over the fence, and he marries out of sheer gratitude the girl who does most of the courting and because he hasn't the nerve to say "no." The conceited man marries the woman who lets him see that she loves him, because he thinks she shows her superior taste and intelligence in preferring him.

So there you are. Thackeray said that any woman who didn't have an actual hump on her back could marry any man she chose, and certainly we have all seen marriages that confirmed this theory.

Naturally, every hunter of men must lay her own traps to suit her own game. You don't catch lions and rabbits in the same snares, so the only advice I can give you as to methods is to study your quarry and adopt the tactics best suited to the individual man.

Some men should be jolled, some flouted, some talked to, some listened to. Some men must be appealed to through the eye. Others through the stomach. Some men can be floated into matrimony on a sea of tears. Others have to be dragged into it by the hair of their heads. But there is generally a way and the patient wooer finds it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My wife hates my mother so that she goes into a violent rage even when I receive a letter from her. She abuses me and my mother, applying every sort of vile epithet to us, even going so far as to strike me. My mother has done nothing to injure my wife in any way. On the contrary, it is my wife who has wronged my mother.

Now I love my wife, but I also love my mother dearly, and I do not feel that I should be compelled to give up mother entirely just because my wife hates her. I have a dear little child who is worshiped by my parents. They are anxious to see the child and I am anxious to take it to their home for a short visit, but my wife absolutely refuses to let the baby go and is violently opposed even to my going. What should I do?

Answer—You will certainly show that you are a very weak character and a most unworthy son if you let your wife separate you from your mother.

A jealous woman is a crazy woman, and you cannot reason with your wife any more than you could with any other lunatic, but you would be as wrong to be bound by her limitations as you would be to let any other person who had lost her senses decide a question of right and wrong for you.

What your wife thinks of your mother has nothing whatever to do with your obligation to the woman who bore you, who nursed you, who tolled for you, who sacrificed for you, who has surrounded you all the days of your life with a tenderness and devotion that you can never repay.

Because you are married has not made your mother love you less. It has not made her less interested in you, or made her pine for you for a moment of your dear face and the sound of your voice. Indeed, just because you have the misfortune to be married to a bitter and revengeful woman makes her brood over you with that pity that only a mother can feel for her unhappy children.

So write to your mother often, go to see her often, and by all means take your little child to see her grandparents. Your wife has no right to forbid you that. And you may be sure of this: that your wife will have more respect for you if you defy her and do what you know to be the right thing than she will have if you are coward enough to give in to her and let her boss you.
